FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

The Jeweler of the People Gets Ready for Spring Shopping Events

March 3, 2009/ San Francisco. After a whirlwind schedule of Valentine's runway and theatrical shows wardrobing models and performers with dramatic jewelry, John S. Brana gears up for Spring shopping events for his fans. Look for his signature high end collections including corrugated cuffs and layered gemstone necklaces at the Contemporary Crafts Market in San Francisco's Fort Mason, March 14 and 15. Shoppers will also enjoy copper, sterling silver and 14K gold-filled designs priced under $150 at Appel and Frank's Spring

Into Style Shopping Event, March 26 at the Regency Center.

"It's times like these that make it even more important to stay in the public eye and to show your clients how much you appreciate them," described Brana who encourages shoppers to take advantage of free or discounted advance tickets for both events. For a limited time, guests may visit <http://www.contemporarycraftsmarket.com/> to print passes for two free admissions to the 24th annual fair showcasing one-of-a-kind designs from over 250 diverse artists. Shoppers may also enjoy $5 admissions into the Appel and Frank event, which will feature over 70 designers, when purchasing two tickets online at <http://www.appelandfrank.com/>.

New and current fans of the San Francisco-inspired handcrafted jewelry designer will appreciate Brana's latest experiments in metallic textures. Embossed plaques, corrugated leaves, spiraling shells, and light-as-a-feather links are just a sampling of the additions shoppers will enjoy this spring. To view John S. Brana's complete jewelry collections, please visit his following websites: <http://www.johnsbrana.com>, <http://www.handcrafted-gold-jewelry.com>, <http://www.handmade-silver-jewelry.com>, <http://www.handmadecopperjewelry.com>.
